RE: Celsius Network LLC, et al. Case Number: 22-10964

Dear Chief Judge Glenn,

I'm writing to you as a result of an error that has been made with the improper handling of my claim as a creditor but also appears to be a widespread issue with other creditors.

In reference to Court Docket 4319 Filed 2/15/24, a serious error has been made by placing my claim in the "convenience class". There has been a very large number of spam email messages that creditors have been receiving stemming from this case. We have been repeatedly warned of ongoing phishing email messages and not to click or respond to suspicious looking messages.

Given the amount of my claim, I never would have knowingly elected any type of "convenience class" handling of my claim and as a result, this email looked extremely suspicious.

There currently is no effective method in place for communicating with anyone about correcting this issue. Every one of my tickets or email messages submitted resulted in the same standard form letter response with a link to FAQ that didn't answer my questions.

For something as serious as this matter and the magnitude of claims, there should have been registered letters sent out to creditors physical addresses. Email without confirmation of receipt by the creditor is not a reliable communication source.

I had received an email on Nov 19, 2022 specifically stating that if I agreed with the type and amount of my claim listed in the email, no further action was required. Given the daily spam emails I've been receiving since the beginning of this case it is easy to see why the January email was considered to be spam.

Given the fact that as a creditor I had no real opportunity to correct the error, I respectfully request that this issue be re-addressed by the court and consideration be given to this situation.

Best Regards,

Marc Iafrate

Re: Genesis Network LLC, a 501(c)(3) Non-Profit Corporation

Case No. 23-10964

In response to Court Order No. 23-10964, a summary of the facts and circumstances of my claim in the "Genesis Network LLC" case is provided. There has been a very large number of similar claims filed in the Southern District of New York, and it is not possible to provide a detailed summary of all of them. However, the facts and circumstances of my claim are as follows:

Given the amount of my claim, I never would have knowingly elected any type of "consent" to the filing of my claim, and I am not aware of any other claimants who have done so.

There currently is no evidence that any claimant has contacted me with respect to my claim. Every one of my friends or family members who has been contacted in the same manner as I have been, has responded with a letter stating that they do not wish to be involved in the case.

For something as simple as this, the Court should not be required to hold a hearing. The Court should simply dismiss the claim, and I should not be required to appear in Court. I am not aware of any other claimants who have been required to appear in Court.

Amount of my claim listed in the summary of facts and circumstances was reduced. Given the large amount of my claim, I am not aware of any other claimants who have been required to appear in Court.

Given the fact that my claim is not a "consent" claim, I am not aware of any other claimants who have been required to appear in Court.

Best Regards,
